Jorgensen Reaction to State of the State Address

MADISON – State Representative Andy Jorgensen (D-Milton) released the following statement regarding the 2015 State of the State Address:

"Listening to our Governor tonight, I got the sneaking suspicion that Iowa voters will hear a similar speech soon. But, in focusing on his political future, Governor Walker is not putting Wisconsin families first.

"Make no mistake, the state of our state is in jeopardy.

"Wisconsin continues to limp out of the recession at a pace well behind neighboring states. Governor Walker and legislative Republicans have spent us into a staggering budget deficit. And, our public schools are begging property taxpayers to keep the lights on, because the GOP has funneled sorely-needed funds to unaccountable private voucher schools.

"Wisconsin families deserve our full attention and best effort on these issues – and that's what Democrats will deliver."
